

THE IMPORTANCE OF YOUR DONATION

With the health and betterment of our community and beyond at stake, donations to the UIC College of Applied Health Sciences compel us even further to do our part and respond to a more profound, widespread need. Through gifts, donors call us to action: to elevate our students' education from the transactional to the experiential; create and expand programs that serve communities; and recruit the brightest scholars and researchers.

There are defining experiences that change one's life course and the one for me was when I was accepted into the UIC OT program. The education I received 60 years ago shaped a life-long love of learning, a dedication to service, and opportunities and experiences I couldn't ever imagine having. For that "gift of a lifetime," I have continued to support UIC OT and AHS.

Ruth Ann Watkins '62 BS OT, MBA, OTR, FAOTA

Due to the generosity of AHS donors, I am both a student and a mother. This support has made it possible for me to be the role model I wish for my children to see: one that pursues dreams, strives for more and has a passion for learning. I hope to one day be on the other side, supporting students along their journey.
