

AHS Research Day 2023

UIC Student Center West,
Thompson Rooms
828 S. Wolcott Ave., Chicago

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 8
2 TO 5 P.M.

Learn about the research and scholarship happening in the UIC College of Applied Health Sciences to eradicate health disparities, improve clinical outcomes, dismantle barriers, and create real and lasting solutions that make a positive difference in our communities—and the world.

2 to 3 p.m.

Welcome: Kharma Foucher, interim associate dean, AHS Office of Research
Remarks and updates: Joanna Groden, UIC Vice Chancellor for Research
Distinguished lecture: “Go with the Flow!” presented by Philip S. Clifford

3 to 5 p.m.

Poster session with hors d’oeuvres, desserts and fall beverages

Enjoy complimentary food and refreshments while you build community and learn about the impressive breadth of research and scholarship. There will be fun activities and prizes for student attendees.

For more information, contact the AHS Research Office at ahs-research@uic.edu.

